

SNAKES, TIGERS, LEOPARDS MAKE ATTACKS—REPELLED BY ONLY FASTEST GUN-PLAY

E. R. H. GING

A Large Snake Slowly Ascended the Trunk of the Tree.

Editor's Note—It would be hard to match in fiction this thrilling, true story of a night spent in the India jungle. Capt. Quinton tells what happened when he and his fellow hunters climbed the trees by the bank of the Mutla river, 25 miles southeast of Calcutta, and waited there in the darkness while the jungle beasts came to the water to drink. The Day Book is enabled to reproduce this narrative from "The Strange Adven-